Health Care Showdown May Come Today

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate faces another showdown vote today on a politically explosive plan for Social Security health care for the aged — the third such test in four years.
The proposal is strongly backed by President Johnson, whose Senate lieutenants were making an all-out effort to round up the votes to put it over.

It is just as heavily opposed by Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee, who flew here from California to vote against it. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said the outcome may be extremely close.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted today to put a health-care plan for the aged into the Social Security system. The vote was 49 to 44.

It was the first time the plan, center of much argument for many years, has been endorsed by either branch of Congress, and marked a triumph for President Johnson who put it high on his legislative program.

There appears to be little possibility, however, that this Congress will actually deliver it to Johnson's desk.

The Senate vote was to adopt the proposal as an amendment to a House-passed bill increasing Social Security cash benefits. Prospects for retention of the health-care plan are considered dim in the Senate-House conference that will shape the final form of this particular measure.

Baseball Star Stan Musial Collapses

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Former baseball star Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, now an executive in the organization, collapsed Tuesday night at Busch Stadium during the St. Louis-Milwaukee game.

Musial, 43, was rushed to Jewish Hospital where Dr. I.C. Middleman said he was suffering from "viral encephalitis," almost complete physical exhaustion.

Middleman, the Cardinal team physician and Musial's personal physician as well, said the former star was "completely dehydrated by the time he reached the hospital and was at times irrational."

"We are giving him intravenous feeding, trying to get some fluid back into his system and get him back in balance."

Asked if Musial's condition was serious, Middleman replied:

"No, I don't think so. His blood pressure is all right and he is rational now."

Dr. Middleman said Musial "would be hospitalized for at least several days."

Musial is director of the President's National Physical Fitness Program and friends said he had been on the go constantly for months.

Pressure Cell Dominates State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Arkansas weather continued to be dominated today by a high pressure cell over the Great Lakes and continued warm, dry weather was in prospect.

The forecast calls for high temperatures ranging from 90 to 96 degrees and for overnight lows of 64 to 72 through Thursday.

The Weather Bureau reported today that August was a moderately wet month in the state with rainfall measurements ranging up to 12.18 inches at Ozark. Most major points had from three to six inches of rain during the month.

"We are giving him intravenous feeding, trying to get some fluid back into his system and get him back in balance."

Asked if Musial's condition was serious, Middleman replied:

Always Better to Marry a Girl for Her Dad's Cash, She May Not Have Very Much

World War I Hero, Sgt. York Is Dead at 76

By BILLY BOWES

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Sgt. Alvin C. York, legendary doughboy hero of World War I, died today. The old soldier, who battled crippling illnesses for a decade, was 76.

The sharpshooting native of Tennessee hill country was credited with single-handedly killing 25 Germans and capturing 132 others in one day's fighting in the Argonne Forest in France in 1918. He was awarded the Medal of Honor, and won lasting fame.

York entered Veterans Hospital here Aug. 29. Death came at 10:40 a.m.

It was his third trip to the hospital this year and the last of a dozen hospitalizations in the past two years.

His final illness was described as an acute infection of the urinary tract. He had been in a coma almost since admittance.

His wife, Gracie, and his five sons and two daughters, had maintained a bedside vigil.

Hospital spokesmen said death was due to "general debility resultant of a combination of conditions incident to his age and complicating illnesses over the past 10 years."

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

York came to the hospital from his beloved farm home at Pall Mall, Tenn., a tiny hamlet about 140 miles northeast of Nashville in the Cumberland Mountains. The spacious home and the land were a gift of grateful Tennesseans who responded to a fund drive in 1919.

Though a frequent patient in recent years, York was impatient with hospitals and yearned to return to "Gracie's" cooking, and so informed hospital authorities in his customary good-natured way.

Survivors include the widow; two daughters, Mrs. Betsy Lowrey and Mrs. Alice Frankoin, both of Pall Mall, and five sons: the Rev. Edward York of Nashville, a Church of the Nazarene minister; Alvin Jr., of Indianapolis; Woodrow, Thomas and Andrew of Pall Mall.

Farm Bureau Meet Slated for Thursday

The Hempstead County Farm Bureau will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 3, according to Autrey Wilson, President. The meeting will be held at 806 W. 4th Street.

Judge John L. Wilson will be guest speaker. He will give a summary of the proposed constitutional amendments to appear on the ballot of November, 1964, general election. "Farm Bureau members need to understand what the seven proposed constitutional amendments contain so that they can vote their convictions," said Autrey Wilson, president of the organization.

Backlash Didn't Materialize in Michigan

By DICK BARNES

DETROIT (AP) — The only Northern Democrat who voted against the civil rights bill fell behind today in his fight for the Michigan primary election. So-called white backlash seemingly failed to materialize seriously as Rep. John Lesinski, the civil rights bill foe, trailed Rep. John Dingell in a reappointed district.

The race shared the spotlight with Ely Peterson's narrow victory in the Republican U.S. Senate race.

Both overshadowed Republican Gov. George Romney's re-nomination margin of 740-1 over a more conservative GOP foe.

With 4,577 of the state's 5,209 precincts reporting, the key statewide vote stood:

Governor — Romney 511,777, George Higgins 70,003, unopposed Democrat Rep. Neil Stabler 445,767.

U.S. Senate — Mrs. Peterson 192,849, James O'Neil 165,539, Edward Meany 133,116, unopposed Democratic incumbent U.S. Sen. Philip Hart, 431,509.

With 142 precincts reporting in the Lesinski-Dingell 16th District Democratic fight, Dingell led 14,325 to 12,453. Officials first said there were 224 precincts, then upped the figure to 307.

Civil rights advocates lost on another front when Detroit voters approved a "homeowners' rights" ordinance which prohibits interference with a person's asserted right to sell or rent his property for reason wholly his own.

The measure seemed certain to move to the courts, however. Mrs. Peterson, former vice chairman of the Republican National Committee, built an outside edge that overcame the Wayne County (Detroit) lead posted by O'Neil, a member of the State Board of Education and the pre-election favorite.

Romney endorsed none of the Senate hopefuls but was reliably reported to favor Mrs. Peterson, long one of his supporters.

Romney overwhelmed Higgins, who had campaigned partially on a basis of his support for Sen. Barry Goldwater, the GOP presidential nominee.

Romney had not endorsed the Arizona senator, did not campaign in the primary and refused even to acknowledge he knew Higgins' name.

The over-all Republican turnout rolled up about a 54-46 lead over the Democratic vote total, seemingly brightening Romney's already-good November re-election chances against Stabler.

Concern Over Election Procedures

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A survey of county election officials concerning election procedures shows county officials are trying to comply with state laws the Arkansas Election Research Council said Monday.

John Haley, a Little Rock attorney who is director of the council, released the results.

The questionnaires were mailed Aug. 7 to county clerks, sheriffs and election commissioners throughout the state. Haley said 94 of the 375 questionnaires were returned.

This, he said, represented 28 per cent of all officials queried and represented 59 of the state's 75 counties. Haley said he felt the response to the questions indicated officials are trying to "conduct honest and efficient elections."

A number of deficiencies were pointed out, Haley said.

He said replies indicated there was widespread violation of a state law requiring that votes not be counted until the polls close.

Twenty-five per cent of the replies received said that votes were being counted before the polls close and on the basis of this, Haley said, 20 per cent of all counties have some precincts counting early.

Replies from 54 counties indicated that those counties did not have voting booths as required by law. Only three replies indicated the presence of booths.

Twenty-one of the replies said ballot boxes were locked, Haley said, while 21 said they were not and two replied "sometimes."

Legal procedures are generally followed in the counting of ballots, he said, though some 30 replies showed there were some alterations or "improvements" to the procedures authorized by law.

Haley said confusion was almost universal on the disposition of voter lists and the certification of election results.

"In many cases," he said, "the only available copies of voter lists are sealed up in the ballot boxes, thus requiring a court order to obtain what is supposed to be readily available public information."

"Without a readily obtainable copy of the voter list," he said, an interested citizen cannot determine if there were any instances of double voting unless he is willing to institute court action."

Haley said the 16 counties from which no replies were received were Clark, Dallas, Drew, Green, Howard, Lafayette, Madison, Mississippi, Nevada, Newton, Perry, Phillips, Randolph, Searcy, Stone and Van Buren.

Airliner Delayed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — FBI and local officers delayed a Delta Airlines flight for almost two hours here Tuesday evening, investigating a report that a bomb was on the DC-6. No bomb was found.

The report was phoned into the Memphis Delta reservations office. Airline officials said an elderly woman told them a bomb would be on the next Delta flight from Little Rock. The plane, bound for Shreveport and Dallas, had come from Chicago and St. Louis.

About 40 persons were on the plane when it landed here.

It wasn't often Ives made this sort of mistake, but he was stuck with it now. He said to Brick's narrowed stare, counting on his willingness and Brick new-found important, "We could put it up to Juke—unless you'd rather take a look around yourself?"

"Not me," Brick grinned. "I ain't lost nothin' on Sams range."

And once more, Finney, bristling, pushed in his two bits. "I say don't let him do it! How do we know what he's up to? All this yap you heard in town— if the jigger's on the level what would the time of the week have to do with it?"

Probe Ordered

when Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said in a speech that he had evidence of a $35,000 payoff he said was made by Matthew H. McCloskey Jr., Philadelphia contractor, on the Washington, D.C., stadium contract.

McCloskey, finance chairman of the Democratic National Committee at the time could not be reached for comment. He resigned several weeks ago as ambassador to Ireland.

Williams told his colleagues that $10,000 of the $35,000 went to Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent, and that, according to Reynolds, $25,000 was turned over to Baker for "a contribution to the Johnson-Kennedy campaign fund of 1960."

The senator called it a conspiracy in which "several laws were violated" and demanded an immediate reopening of the investigation into how Baker built up a claimed fortune of over $2 million while serving as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

Baker resigned his $19,600-a-year Senate post last Oct. 7 after questions were raised by Williams and others about his outside business dealings. He refused to testify at an investigation conducted by the Senate Rules Committee.

Williams displayed a copy of a $109,205.60 check that he said McCloskey had sent to Reynolds on Oct. 17, 1960.

He said this represented an overpayment of $35,574.32 on the amount due Reynolds as insurance broker on the performance bond McCloskey posted on the stadium contract. He referred to it variously as a "kickback" and a "payoff."

"This $35,000 additional payoff on this stadium contract was arranged for the express purpose of channeling a $25,000 political contribution into the Democratic campaign fund and to charge this $25,000 contribution as a business expense item on a government contract," Williams said.

The Irish people were converted to Christianity by Saint Patrick.

Brick, when he came up, must have sensed the strain, his glance passing inscrutably from the hand to Ives and back again. "You guys waitin' for me?"

He looked broad through the shoulders, redheaded and rugged.

"Well," Ives nodded, "what'd you find out?"

"Story checks, Brick said, still watching Ives but pushing the words at Ives companion. "It's all over town. Latigo Frank nicked a couple of Sam's pistols — you kin let that hump outta your back, now Finney. It's just like he told it."

"Includin' his reason for a trip to Stag Creek?"

Brick's jaws tightened.

Never taking his stare off Ives, Finney said: "Wanted to know from me just now how to git there. First he asked was it Tuesday. You figger that in?"

Brick looked Ives over from boot to tail crease. "What's on Reston land you've got to see?"

The words, though soft, caught Ives like a mallet.

He kept his hands where they were and nothing in his face gave the jolt away, but deep inside a cold wind fluttered and curled like fingers around the thought of that girl. He said after a moment: "Kind of wanted to get me a look at that rock patch."

Brick wooled it around, and you could see the wheels churning. "You mean where Old Man Reston got his comeuppance?"

"Might be something there we could use."

"To build a fire under Sam."

Kerr, D-Okla., leading the fight against it, the vote was 52 to 48 to defeat it.

In 1960, Kennedy presented the proposal himself as a Senate member and the Democratic presidential nominee, but it was rejected 51 to 44.

Senate sponsors of the Social Security plan said in advance they were looking for victory by about two votes. They appear to have gained strength since the 1962 test because six new Democratic senators were elected later that year; these have been offset by only three new Republicans.

One important factor will be the number of Republicans who favor the Social Security approach. In 1962, five did. Dirksen said he thought four or five might vote for it this time.

Even if the proposal gets through the Senate as an amendment to a House-passed Social Security bill, it still faces highly dubious prospects when the measure goes back to the House.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., who will head the House conferees, is said to remain unalterably opposed to it.

Ready for today's vote was a revised version of the King-Anderson proposal which long has been the rallying point for advocates of adding health benefits to Social Security. It is embodied in two amendments sponsored by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn.

One of these, on which the agreement was obtained for today's vote, covers the health care benefits.

It was offered as a substitute for a rival plan of Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., to raise cash Social Security benefits 7 per cent instead of the 5 per cent provided in the House bill.

If Gore's first amendment is adopted, he will push his second one which carries the financing for the King-Anderson plan plus a $7 flat increase in cash Social Security benefits. That cash increase would be greater for most present beneficiaries than the 7 per cent of Long's proposal, but would cost less in the long run.

The revised proposal carries hospitalization, nursing home, outpatient diagnostic and home health visits.

Hospitalization would be for 45, 90 or 180 days, depending on a choice of options. Nursing home care to supplement the hospitalization would be for 60 days. It was 180 days originally but this was cut under the revision.

Space Symposium in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas will make one of its biggest pushes for a part of the space industry next month at an Arkansas Inventors Congress and Space Symposium here Oct. 30.

The Arkansas Industrial Development Commission in sponsoring the event, with a host of state and federal organizations as participants.

James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, will be a featured speaker. An astronaut will appear, and some 200 inventors will have exhibits at the conference.

"The function has a two-fold purpose," said Carl C. Hinkle Jr., executive director of the AIDC. "One is to bring the inventor and manufacturer together in an effort to start new homegrown industries and add new hardware to the production lines of existing industry."

"The second is to orient our own industries in the production requirements of the space program and to encourage out-of-state companies who are working with the space program to locate in Arkansas."

Picks Forestry Queen

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Margo Dunaway, 19, of Conway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Dunaway, was named Arkansas Forest Queen here Saturday night. The sophomore at Arkansas State Teachers College measures 37-23-37.

Hometown to Give Miller a Sendoff

By ROBERT T. GRAY

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — Bill Miller, born here 50 years ago in what he calls "an ordinary Irish-Catholic middle-class neighborhood," reached a political pinnacle as he was about to forsake politics.

Some fellow townsmen appear a little dazed at developments as they prepare to give him a send-off Saturday for his campaign as the Republican vice-presidential nominee. But others, better acquainted with hard-hitting William Edward Miller profess no particular surprise.

Miller is the type of political candidate the folk of another era would have heralded as a self-made man. He was born in a two-story, cream-colored frame house. His father, in Miller's own words, was a maintenance man "or janitor or whatever you want to call it" for the city.

His mother ran a dress and millinery shop not far from the family home. Both parents are dead.

Miller lived in the house in which he was born until he left home to attend Notre Dame University. After Notre Dame, he attended Albany Law School, served in the armed forces and returned to Lockport to practice law and begin a political career.

As a boy, Miller walked half a dozen blocks to St. Patrick's Parochial School. On Sunday, he walked to Mass at the parish church. After St. Patrick's, he walked to Lockport High School in a building now razed.

"We never had a car," Miller explains. "We walked almost everywhere."

As a young man, the vice-presidential nominee also walked away from the political party of his parents.

"They were long-time Democrats but shifted the first time I ran for office, for district attorney," Miller recalls.

If Miller had not become a Republican he probably would not have won his first election. Lockport is known as a Republican city.

It grew out of the construction of the Erie Canal, built in the 1850s to link the Hudson River with Lake Ontario. Horse-towed barges carried cargo that played an important role in development of the West.

At Lockport, husky construction crews slashed through a 60-foot escarpment. They created five locks that gave the city its name.

Modern Lockport is a far cry from the days of the rough and tough workmen who built the canal and the early boatmen who plied it. It is a city of gracious homes and dotted with churches and schools. About half of Lockport's work force of 10,000 is employed by the Harrison radiator plant of General Motors.

On the eve of "Bill Miller Day" and the formal opening here next Saturday of Miller's campaign, Lockport residents have two principal topics of conversation. Along with speculation about Miller's unexpected prominence, they worry about the possibility of general strikes in the automobile industry. A strike would close the radiator works and cripple local economy.

While a congressman, Miller has maintained a summer home in Olcott, 12 miles away on Lake Ontario, and another home in Washington. Before his nomination he had announced plans to retire from politics and resume the full-time practice of law in Lockport.

brought him down. He was based on the U.S. aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk.

He parachuted safely but wrenched a knee in landing. Klusmann waved off a rescue helicopter, as Pathet Lao ground forces were closing in. The pilot was last seen surrounded by Communist soldiers.

Last month, eight letters from Klusmann were forwarded to his wife by the Red Cross. The pilot did not say where he was being held, but that he was kept in a mud-walled hut, 12 by 20 feet, and its thatched roof leaked in the rain.

Klusmann said his knee was treated by the Communists.

His presumed escape route dense jungle, and areas with mountains reaching to 9,000 feet.

Udom, where Klusmann arrived Tuesday, is 40 miles south of the Laos-Thailand border and approximately 140 miles southwest of the Plaine des Jarres.

Supersonic Checks

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Members of the 43rd Bomb Wing which recently moved to Little Rock Air Force Base near Jacksonville, Ark., were paid with supersonic checks this week. The checks were flown in a supersonic B-58 trainer Monday from Carswell Air Force Base here, former home of the 43rd. The flight was routed over the Gulf of Mexico for the supersonic portion of the flight. It was the first time a military payroll had been delivered at twice the speed of sound.

GOP Drive Will Open in Arizona

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN PRESCOTT, Ariz. (AP)—Republican Barry Goldwater formally opens his presidential campaign here this Thursday in the city where his uncle, a staunch Democrat, has been proclaimed Man of the Century.

Prescott, Elev. 5,354, Pop. 18,037, was the capital of Arizona during the rip-roaring territorial days. Pine-scented and mountain-rimmed, it now dreams of becoming the summer White House. It always has been Barry Goldwater's "lucky town."

Here he launched two successful campaigns for the U.S. Senate. Here he learned merchandising, starting as a stock clerk in the family store that had the distinction of being the first brick building in Arizona.

Here he got his first taste of politics, passing out handbills for his Uncle Morris, who was mayor of Prescott for 23 years and both speaker of the House and president of the Senate in the Territorial Legislature.

Morris Goldwater, who died in 1939 after a full and adventurous life on the old Arizona frontier, helped organize the state's Democratic party, order of Masons and constitutional convention. Lake Goldwater, the city's reservoir, is named for him.

Sen. Goldwater will kick off his campaign on the steps of the handsome, Grecian-pillared Yavapai County Courthouse.

Directly across the tree-shaded plaza still stands the roaring remnants of Whiskey Row, with its famous Palace Bar, and, on Baptist Church, Thursday, September 3, at 2:00 p.m. Burial in Scott's Memorial Gardens. Smith Funeral Home of Stam, in charge.

Mr. Charlie Huntley, aged 90, a native of Hempstead County, passed away in a Hugo, Okla., hospital Sunday night, August 30.

Survivors include eight children, Mrs. Georgia Anna McFadden of Hope, Floyd Huntley of Washington, Leonard, John, Lee and Dee Huntley of Toledo, O., and Mrs. Mary Jane Perry of Texarkana, thirty-two grandchildren and forty great grandchildren.

Funeral service will be held at the Brown Chapel Church of God in Christ in Washington, Ark., Thursday, September 3, at 2:00 p.m. Burial in Moss Cemetery.

the opposit side, the Goldwater store.

Most of the signs of its pioneer beginnings have disappeared, including Prescott's Chinatown, once the West's largest outside of San Francisco.

But Montezuma Street, alias Whiskey Row, still leaps to life every Saturday night when the cowhands and the miners flock in from the surrounding ranches and lead and zinc mines.

The faro tables and roulette wheels have long since given way to pinball machines and juke boxes, and a rock 'n' roll now blasts away where Little Egypt doffed her draperies. The local barbershop still advertises hot baths at 50 cents and the ranchers still stretch out their mountain lion skins on the pool table in the Palace Bar to collect the $50 state bounty.

"Count the bullet holes in the ceiling—there's 17 of them," urged a patron in the Palace on a recent Saturday night. "And see that big old wooden bar? They took it out of a New York bar in 1878 and brought it here around the Horn by ship and across the desert from California by Wagon train. The mustache towels are gone, but it's still the best looking piece of furniture in town."

The ornate old bar survived the great fire of July 4, 1900, that wiped out Prescott's business district, except Chinatown, and brought Dude Hose Co. No. 2, organized by Morris Goldwater, hurrying to the scene. The Dudes, made up of merchants and bankers, traditionally slugged it out at the scene of every fire with volunteers from Toughs Hose Co. No. 1, comprising the saloonkeepers and customers of Whiskey Row. This time both were helpless because the water ran out. Legend has it that the piano player at the Palace stuck to his stool until the floor collapsed under him.

Now celebrating its centennial, Prescott was founded in 1864 on a whim of Republican President Abraham Lincoln, who decided to locate the territorial capital way out in Apache country rather than at Tucson, a hotbed of secessionist sentiment. Morris Goldwater, who arrived in 1876 with Big Mike Goldwater, Barry's grandfather, never did rate a statue in the Plaza. But when the centennial commission posthumously named him Man of the Century, he did rate an oil painting in the new City Hall not far from the portrait of William Hickling Prescott, the Harvard historian of the Old Southwest for whom the city was named.

Killebrew Hits Homer, Orioles Lose the Game

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a Punch and Judy show in the American League.

Harmon Killebrew played Punch. The Chicago White Sox played Judy.

Killebrew gave American League leading Baltimore the old one-two Monday night, hammering his 43rd and 44th homers for both Minnesota runs in a 2-1 victory over the Orioles.

The White Sox, meanwhile, swung like girls against Mickey Lolich, who played ring-around-a-rosie with the punchless Chicagoans, pitching six hitless innings before winding up with a three-hit, 8-0 victory.

And when the show was over, the Orioles still held their one-half game lead over the White Sox.

Killebrew, who hadn't hit a homer in 14 games, tied the score 1-1 in the fourth when he smashed a drive 415 feet over the left field fence. Then, in the sixth, Killebrew applied the knockout blow, a 405-foot shot over the same fence. Both homers came off Steve Barber.

At the same time, Lolich had the White Sox dangling. Bringing his record to 14-7 with his fifth straight victory, the 23-year-old left-hander did not allow a hit until Al Weis grounded a single to left leading off the seventh.

The only other hits off Lolich were singles by Camilo Carreon in his eighth and Pete Ward in the ninth.

The losses by the leaders enabled the third-place New York Yankees to climb within two games of the top. The defending champions whipped Los Angeles 4-1, despite the presence of the Angels' $200,000 bonus baby, Rick Reichardt, in the lineup.

Reichardt, making his major league debut in center field, struck out, fouled out twice and lined out in four trips and was unable to flag down Cleve Boyer's long drive that went for a two-run triple and capped the Yankees' decisive four-run sixth inning uprising.

Elsewhere, Sam McDowell and Don McMahon combined on a six-hit shutout as Cleveland blanked Washington 3-0 and Boston edged Kansas City 3-2 on a homer by Lee Thomas.

National League leading Philadelphia edged Houston 4-3, remaining 5½ games up on the Cincinnati Reds, who nipped Chicago's Cubs 2-1. Third-place St. Louis downed Milwaukee 4-3, the New York Mets whipped San Francisco 4-1 and Pittsburgh defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-2.

Killebrew's homers wiped out a 1-0 Baltimore lead built in the first inning on an error, a wild pitch and Brooks Robinson's double. Robinson's double was the only hit allowed by Twins' starter Jim Kaat, 15-7, until the eighth when John Orsino singled and Bob Johnson doubled.

When Kaat went to a two-ball, no-strike count on Jackie Brandt, Al Worthington came on in relief and snuffed out the Orioles' threat. He got Brandt to pop straight up to the catcher, then bore down and struck out Luis Aparicio.

Lolich had an easier task. Before the White Sox had collected their first hit, he had a 5-0 lead on Don Wert's three-run homer off Ray Herbert in the second inning and Jerry Lumpe's two-run, inside-the-park job in the fifth inning.

Lumpe's fly liner went for a homer when Floyd Robinson fell heavily to the ground while attempting a diving catch. Robinson landed on his head and suffered a temporary paralysis of the arms, but indications were that he would be back in the line-up tonight.

The Yankees broke a scoreless tie in the sixth by battering George Brunet for five hits. Singles by Pedro Gonzalez, Mickey Mantle and Elston Howard produced the first run. Hec Lopez brought in the second with a sacrifice fly before Boyer wrapped it up.

Al Downing, 11-7, got the victory with a six-hitter, allowing the Angels only run in the seventh.

Porks Open Two-a-Day Grid Sessions

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks opened their two-a-day football practice sessions Tuesday, and the first-day workouts left trainer Bill Ferrell with a pleasant surprise.

Ferrell said it was the first time in his 15 seasons that he could remember an opening day unmarred by injuries, or even a single exhaustion case.

The Razorbacks also had less opening day contact than in any recent year, and head coach Frank Broyles said the squad "just didn't need it."

Broyles termed the sessions just all right, nothing more. He was pleased with the players' mental and physical conditions, but added they didn't show much zip.

Hot and humid weather could have had something to do with that. The team took a water-and-ice break during the morning session, and the two in the afternoon. And the customary practice - ending conditioning drills - wind sprints - were skipped after the late session.

"It would have been just too much for the first day," Broyles said. He added the players didn't need the extra conditioning.

Broyles planned the first scrimmage for today, and said there would be another one Saturday.

The varsity squad was divided into two teams of offensive specialists and two teams of defensive specialists. The defensive men did work some on offense and visa versa, however.

The three quarterbacks, Fred Marshall, Billy Gray and Ronnie Smith, threw the ball exceptionally well.

Wins Place on Olympic Squad

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Simes III, who won the National Cycling Championship last week, won a berth on the U.S. Olympic cycling squad Tuesday by sweeping two straight races in a best-of-3 final series in the two-lap match race from Sam Zietlin of New York.

The 21-year-old Simes, of Westwood, N.J., and a 1960 Olympian, defeated Zietlin, with times of 3:26 and 2:34.

ent on singles by Lou Clinton, Tom Satriano and Bobby Knoop.

The Indians got the only run they needed for their 10th victory in the last 11 games when Vic Davalillo smacked a leadoff homer in the fifth inning off Frank Kreutzer. McMahon came on when McDowell faltered in the seventh and pitched hitless ball the rest of the way.

Nelson Mathews' two-run homer gave the A's a 2-0 lead in the first but Red Sox pitcher Jack Lamabe singled a run home in the second and Carl Yastrzemski's run-producing single tied it in the fourth.

Thomas' homer in the seventh snapped the tie and Dick Radatz came on to protect the lead.

The vessel will have a range of about 80 miles, a cruising speed of 3.8 knots, a maximum time submerged of 7 hours and a crew of a pilot and two scientists.

Callison, Allen Keeping Phils Right on Top

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Richie Allen doesn't care about being the National League's top rookie and Johnny Callison wonders whether he's worthy of being the Most Valuable Player. But together, they may make Gene Mauch Manager of the Year.

Mauch's reluctant dragons lifted the Phillies to a 4-1 victory over the Houston Colts Tuesday night, keeping Philadelphia 5½ games in front of Cincinnati which nipped Chicago 2-1 behind Jim Maloney's 13 strikeouts.

Hal (Skinny) Brown and Jim Bunning were locked in a scoreless pitcher's duel through six innings with Brown working on a two-hitter. Callison led off the seventh and tagged a one-strike pitch for his 24th homer. Before the inning was over, Wes Covington and Frank Thomas also had homered and, with Bunning breezing, the 3-0 lead looked safe.

When Allen whacked a Dick Farrell pitch to the 447-foot sign in deep center and raced around the bases for an inside-the-park homer in the eighth, it merely looked like window dressing.

But Bunning ran into trouble in the ninth. Nellie Fox and Al Spangler singled and two outs later, Joe Gajnes clubbed a three-run homer, narrowing the lead to 4-3. But the Perfect Game hero bore down getting Carroll Hardy to end it.

Elsewhere in the NL, St. Louis moved into third place with a 5-4 victory over Milwaukee and New York dropped the Giants to fourth 2-1. Pittsburgh dropped Los Angeles 5-2.

In the American League, Harmon Killebrew's two home runs beat Baltimore 2-1 for Minnesota. Detroit blanked Chicago 8-0 behind Mickey Lolich. New York topped Los Angeles 4-1, Boston nipped Kansas City 3-2, and Cleveland blanked Washington 3-0.

"Rookie of the Year doesn't mean a thing," says Allen. "Let them put a $1000 up for it and it would be worthwhile." The rookie star also has been mentioned for MVP honors but scoffs at that thought, too.

"If they do things right," he says, "they'll give that one to Johnny Callison. He deserves it. He's had more clutch hits than anyone in the league."

It was Callison, who hasn't been too happy with his contribution to the Phillies' pennant express, who broke the spell against Brown Tuesday night. "It's about time I started doing something," he said recently. His homer started the Phillies' three-run surge.

Covington's 13th homer followed Callison's shot and one out later, Thomas added his No. 8. Allen's homer was his 25th.

Maloney struck out seven of the first nine Cubs he faced and limited Chicago to just three hits. Leo Cardenas' run-scoring single in the fourth broke the tie and beat Ernie Broglio.

Al Jackson hurled a nifty six-hitter and Joe Christopher drove in two runs with a bases-loaded double for the Mets. San Francisco unveiled Masanori Murakami, the first Japanese national to play in the major leagues. The left-handed pitcher hurled one inning, striking out two and allowing one hit.

Bob Uecker singled home the winning run in the ninth inning for the Cardinals victory. The Braves chased 16-game winner Ray Sadecki with a four-run third but reliever Ron Taylor blanked them over the last six innings to pick up the victory.

Industry Is Getting an Early Start

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Industry is shifting into higher gear a bit earlier than usual.

Labor Day is the unofficial start of the autumn season for many companies and the beginning of the production year for some industries. But industry as a whole is picking up momentum now without waiting for the end of the vacation season and the start of the back-to-work and back-to-school period. Here's the picture:

Steel output last month set a record for any August.

Factory orders have hit a new high after two-month slowdown.

Manufacturers' sales have climbed to a record high, and Factory inventories have edged up only slightly, meaning that most of the production gains have been passed along at a reassuring pace in shipments to consumers.

Right after Labor Day will come the showdown in the auto labor talks—an uncertainty that many industries must reckon with. A strike, especially a prolonged one, could upset a lot of business planned.

But another, uncertainty is counted upon to spur production in late autumn. That is the possibility, however remote now, of a steel strike next May. As a hedge, many steel customers will be tempted to order ahead and build up their stocks. With output already climbing, steelmen are more than usually confident as September starts. And the fast pace of steel production now could make users start stockpiling earlier than in past steel labor contract negotiation years.

August steel production at around 0.5 million tons topped the previous record for the month of 9.6 million tons in 1955. Output has been climbing for four straight weeks after a summer dip that was shallower than usual.

New orders received by factories had slipped in May and June after setting a record high of $38.2 billion in April. The Commerce Department reports they rebounded in July to hit a new high of $39.4 billion. This carried the backlog of unfilled orders to $54.2 billion, with the July advance concentrated in durable goods. Aerospace industries were the star performers.

When output is rising to new highs, a close watch is kept on inventories. If they start to bulge, it can spell trouble in the future, because customers might start to living off their stocks and stop ordering. But the department report that rise in July was a modest $45 million, bringing the total to $60.4 billion. This is regarded as nicely in line with sales and flashing no warning signals as yet.

ing Bob Friend his 11th victory against 15 defeats. The rally broke a 2-2 tie with the Dodgers. Willie Stargell's 18th homer of the year started the surge.

More State Schools Are Integrated

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Previously all-white schools at Texarkana and in Pulaski County were desegregated and Negro pupils applied for admittance to an all-white school at West Memphis, all without incident, Monday.

Eleven Negroes were enrolled in the junior and senior classes at Fuller School near Sweet Home, seven at David O. Dodd Elementary School southwest of Little Rock and three at Fairview Elementary School at Texarkana.

Two Negroes applied for transfer from all-Negro Wonder High School at West Memphis. They were L. T. Gates and Arthur Williams.

Both filled out and returned transfer forms provided by Principal Bill Kessinger and Kessinger told them their requests would be considered by the board.

Gates and Williams were accompanied by B. J. Yarbrough, a West Memphis NAACP leader and the Rev. S. L. Henry, a Negro minister.

Yarbrough said the youths asked for 40 more transfer forms but were told by Kessinger that other students who wanted to transfer would have to apply in person.

The West Memphis enrollment effort apparently was the first step toward filing of a desegregation suit there.

L. C. Bates, Arkansas field secretary for the NAACP, said two weeks ago that suits would be filed at West Memphis, El Dorado, Texarkana, Little Rock and North Little Rock and in Lincoln and St. Francis Counties.

Bates said 15 more suits might be filed later if Negro parents were unsuccessful in getting their children into white schools in other parts of the state.

At Texarkana, one boy was enrolled in the first grade and a boy and a girl were enrolled in the second grade. Two other Negro children were present for registration but one did not have a required birth certificate and the other decided to wait until both could register together.
